Gov. Harding of Iowa Cites Blunders Which Republicans Will Correct

Governor W. A. Harding of Iowa, left at 8 o'clock Saturday morning for Washington, where he delivered an address in the afternoon at a large and enthusiastic crowd. Later in the evening he addressed an audience at Pawhuska. Harding was accompanied by Mayor E. H. Tilton, who returned home Sunday morning.

Governor Harding spoke at the municipal auditorium here Friday night. He was proclaimed by those who heard him one of the most interesting and logical political speakers that ever visited this city. During a brief interview with The World, he said that as soon as Harding is inaugurated the Republican administration will immediately begin its plans for reducing the tariff, which has been and still is one of the biggest planks in the Republican platform. As soon as the Democrats took charge of affairs they jettisoned the tariff off—and you can very easily see what has happened to wheat and cotton and lead, and why it happened," the governor remarked.

"People remember distinctly when the delegation of farmers, some of them from Iowa, and others from Oklahoma and other states, appealed to President Wilson to place an embargo on wheat shipped in from Canada. Did he do it? And now look at the price of wheat. A tariff sufficiently high to protect American farmers, and their products would have prevented this disastrous decline in wheat prices."

Governor Harding held in his hand a list of war expenditures of the present administration, showing the monumental blunders made and the failure to furnish aircraft ammunition or other equipment in sufficient quantities to assist in the war. He told of the purchase of thousands of automobiles and motor trucks that were "stored in the open air" and the deal with the Curtiss Airplane company whereby the motors purchased from this company were re-sold to them later at a loss of about $17,000,000.

Harding is a large man, both physically and mentally. He wears a neat business suit and represents the average business man in both appearance and speech.

ORDER FOR RECRUITING

More Men Called for Army of Occupation in Germany and for Hawaiian Service.

Recruiting for the army of occupation now on duty in Germany will be resumed on November 1. For the infantry 200 men are needed, of whom 12 must be clerks, but only recruits of a high type, who can be quickly trained, will be accepted. When 210 infantry vacancies were thrown open on October 1 they were filled up so quickly that these enlistments for Germany had to be closed on October 6.

Major General P. C. Harris, the adjutant general of the army, says: "The service in Germany has proved to be so lively that the ranks there are always filled. Our chief difficulty is that recruits are apt to be over-enlisted before we can stop the recruiting officers from accepting more applicants and we must send such men to the station for which they were accepted."

Equally popular is army service in Hawaii, and as a rule few recruits can be accepted for duty there. However, the Thirtieth field artillery has left the United States for service in the mid-Pacific, and enlistments for this regiment are authorized in orders issued today.

In the old army recruits had no choice in the selection of a regiment, and could not name any particular station. In the new peace-time army a man may either pick his own regiment or designate a part of the world to which he wishes to be sent.

Cato Sells Pleased to See White and Indian Girls Going to Same School.

Special to The World. PONCA CITY, Oct. 30.—"Stay on your farms and farm them. Send your children to school every day. Do these things and you will all become high type citizens."

This is what Cato Sells, Indian commissioner at Washington, D. C., told the Ponca Indians, while visiting at the Whiteagle sub-agency, eight miles south of here, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Sells spent one night at Whiteagle, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hoye. Mr. Hoye is day school inspector in charge of the sub-agency. Accompanying the Sells party were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blair of Chokoma, where Mr. Blair is the acting superintendent.

Commissioner Sells visited the homes of a number of the Ponca to see how they are living and on each occasion he would give them a fatherly advice. He urged them to become honest-to-goodness farmers. Also he visited the public school at Whiteagle, where there are several Indian children enrolled and he talked to them, encouraging the young students in particular to remain in school. Seeing a white girl and a full-blooded Indian girl sitting side by side in the same school seat, Commissioner Sells said:

"That is just what I want to see. It is demonstrating the very things that I have been advocating in Indian school matters."

The Ponca Indian school, a big institution at Whiteagle, was closed a year ago last spring by order of Commissioner Sells with the purpose of forcing the Indian children into the public schools with the whites, so as to have co-operation. Thus far the plan has worked only fairly well. In the first place the Indians do not compel their children to attend school, and in the next place, because particularly of "trachoma" (an eye disease), the whites have not encouraged the young Indians to attend. The state legislature, coming winter, will be requested to insert the word "trachoma" among the communicable diseases, so that the state health authorities may have jurisdiction.

"Fitting Experiences." Tithing experiences of 20 members of the First Presbyterian church will be given by Rev. C. W. Kerr at the Sunday evening service on November 7. Names of the members will not be mentioned, however. The general sermon subject will be stewardship.

Man Bravely Smiles As Narrowly Misses Death in P. O. Crash

One of the workmen engaged in remodeling the interior of the postoffice narrowly missed serious injury and possible death at 10:45 o'clock Saturday morning when a heavy section of mail boxes being installed in the north corridor crashed to the floor.

Several persons standing nearby caught the edge of the frames—which contained several hundred boxes, weighing perhaps a half ton—as it toppled over and held it until the workman extricated himself. He smilingly rubbed his head, but refused to divulge his name.

The corridor of the building was crowded with people who were terrified by the crash and rushed to the scene as the frame fell. Several women nearly fainted as a result of the shock.

Corn Painting So Real It Fooled Old Dobbin

A Montgomery of California, nationally known as the "farmer artist," and credited with having made a canvas painting of corn so realistic that it fooled horses, was the speaker at the luncheon of the City club held yesterday noon at Hotel Tulsa.

"Civilization, Citizenship, Faith and Faith" was the subject of the talk by the artist. His talk was a lesson in philosophy and contained sketches of life.

AN OKLAHOMA SUNSET

Norwegian Painter Declares Most Wonderful Event He Has Seen in This State.

The advantages and praises of Oklahoma are always being sung and recited by lovers of the Sooner state, but Gunder Sether, the Norwegian landscape painter, now sojourning in Tulsa says that he has discovered that nowhere in the world can one find as beautiful a sunset as in this state.

Mr. Sether possesses an international reputation as a painter in oils upon the canvas the beautiful scenes of the Scandinavian country, the Canadian Rockies and the American prairie, as well as the landscape gems of California and the wonderful southwest.

It is the belief of Mr. Sether that the general wealth below the soil of Oklahoma, particularly the gases that are constantly escaping from oil and gas wells, are responsible for this.

"On September 27, while near Dewey, en route to Tulsa, and immediately following a rain, I saw the most wonderful sunset that I have ever seen. It was towards evening and the view appeared almost suddenly before me. Every color stood out by itself, and the green almost compelled the red from the receding sun to pale. It lasted but a few minutes and soon it was dark but it made an impression on me that I will never forget."

Coming to Tulsa, Mr. Sether advised local art lovers of his find and they induced him to put it on canvas. The picture is on exhibition at the Tulsa Institute of Music, 1010 South Main street.

Dusky Brother Admits He Made 'Choc' Brew

Ten gallons of "choc" were confiscated and held for evidence when early Saturday morning police raided an alleged "joint" at 615 East Archer and after an hour's search found the beverage hidden beneath an upturned box. M. Carter and Ada Thomas, negroes, were arrested and charged with possession of liquor.

Carter was fined $20 after he had pleaded guilty to making the stuff. Ada Thomas proved that she had no knowledge of the "choc" and was dismissed.

False Statement Refuted.

Some irresponsible people have been going from house to house circulating a statement that democratic headquarters are opposed to the candidacy of E. B. Howard and do not want him re-elected to congress.

That is absolutely false and misleading. The democratic organization is solidly behind and heartily favors of Congressman Howard, and every member desires his re-election.

When you go to the polls Tuesday, cast your vote for E. E. Oberholzer for congressman and vote for Congressman Howard, and refer to.
